Dear Miss Mason,

You will remember that I wrote to you sometime ago about an abridged edition of two of your Geographical Readers which a German firm wanted to publish.

You gave permission, but I asked for £10 from the publisher to be divided between us, & I now enclose a cheque for your moiety. Such a contingency was not contemplated under the original agreement, but I hope you will be satisfied <sup>to</sup> receive it as a windfall!

I thought the matter had fallen through, but I received the cheque this morning.

Yours faithfully,

I hope you won't mind having this kind of old ~~note~~ No 3 from your home. we are very fond of it.

Forgive my blushing

Once again above this German matter but I am not comforted about it. I remember receiving this, when £10 or £12.0.0 as my money from Stanford's about 20 years <sup>(5 more)</sup> ago or more years ago but I have lost sight of the publishers. They seem to know the book. I wonder would you enclose Dr. Kittle's letter & then ask them to get a permit from the publishers. If they fail to do so I think I ought to withdraw my authorization. Return me cheque.

I have not mentioned the names of the Leipzig publishers to Dr. Kittle.

I have written shortly to a circular about the Geography Books in the meantime we have had a rather trying time with these things.

I have no news

Spring-time what a Spring it is! And for the other one of the Spring-time Not two dear schools are already at work. Tell me sometime etc. That they may be duly interred.

I have had a note from Mr.
Wood who writes hopefully about Mr. Coffin. Of course I am full of interest about the Summers wedding it's so nice that the bride <sup>else</sup> belongs to us in a way.

Has Mrs. Eric begun her great work or does she not to be till the summer? I hope she won't

I am full admiration for

Dear Henrie

We have had a pleasant little visit from you Mr. Raven. He thinks a great deal of Eric & is himself delighted carried in his profession. Of course we talked over.

For the rest, he seems to be quite convinced of the value your work but will not force his way to take it up.

However he is to talk things over with the Head master.

But what a long horse Paul has got.

for himself - a perfect gem!

I am so glad I shall be able to picture the young couple Mrs.

I hear you go to Boxers shortly for the Bach festival. How delightful! when ales I am Natacha should not be always working.

I am much struck by the fact that we were able to trounce the "antis".
After that nothing will withstand us & we shall march forward gaily.

I am not very ~~clearly~~ clear about the lectures. Are they to be given to Berkelford Teachers or a sort of outcome

It's a great opportunity!

Gurnell has I letter drawn up a little scheme & gave Mr. Drew to give one (The first) as she knows some of the teachers while you could arrange with this Parish to give the someone else. I do think it's a great

The brother of burning are once one about the dear L.W. My only consolation is that if a glass is full you cannot move then full is - some must flow out for all you but in so much we are really up forcing out some other things which I try to think I don't care about but that's only because I don't Breathtaking wonderful Malagon should have this great opportunity.

I am sending you a fragment of broken which I have already sent to Mr. Wood color is greatly delighted with it.

It's the passage on page 105 that strikes me very much. It really is strange, is it not, that ~~we~~ should have foisted all his thoughts so curiously. For this is nice what we are doing, offering the best we news of, or could conceive of, for the 'education of the people'.

It keeps us to tell, does it not, that the things established in the month of two or three witnesses?

For view Dr. Heinrich Koelln has sent me these knots from one of Eustachius essays which he is now translating for the Notes.

He spoke of us at the Polytechnic in an educational address there as being to speak at an annual Let I think we might work the Carnegie Fund to great advantage!

The Home Education Series, presumably, might be supplied to each school such book as The Golden Story.

The Story of the World, from Pole to Pole (from Heder) of which one copy might be read to the class.

But we must not lose sight of our principle of one book one child one teacher when less is more.

Did you ever know such an Yours.

We're back nearly myself again after a rather trying time from feeling very thankful. We are visiting over a rather sweet child story, told by Miss Dix (an old student), <sup>a child</sup> who was clever enough to find out a looking at Diogenes's Melancholia — but the story won't tell itself on paper!

Wishes of blessing is clear, ever yours,

My dearest Henrie

I have thought so much wonderful things since your letter came - really discerned - vision in the right opposite & keep book as clear as Alebarus book in The Antiquary but dreams vanish!

I can hardly tell you how deeply impressed I am by your first work.
So, clear, - the whole of this wonderful movement is your "fault"!

From the first notion you till the last meeting you have done it well.

But I am not offering you any words of praise or of thanks because it seems to both you, does it not?

That all this comes from higher service. So in one or other of those volumes there is a chapter on the Great Recognition. If you look at it you will know what I mean I am doing.

In view, too, in Mr. Goffon, what a splendid helper he has been Mrs' and Mr. Coffin, what in the world have you done to make him so keen! That he should really invite the teachers to come!

Dear altogether with you in thinking that we should not have more than 4-6 schools to begin with. It is, as you say, pioneer work will have to be carefully watched because a good thing debased is worse than badning, is it not? I forgive anything more coarse for you, dear, than you should undertake.

I am annoyed by the book which goes in Storm Education not "naughtily" but only "not so good". I'm afraid I'm given to calling a spade a spade but I know how one gets mixed up as to what is in one book & what is in another. It's a singular

Please come Mrs Bradforth should be yielding June & that all our old backs are being made to bear. As you say, sweet friend, it really is overpowering.

Besides the great big news <sup>that's</sup> a little in that all further works will be off till September & that you will have a long visit.
I wonder how anxious about you.

I hear of the Report visit from Mr. Rawlin, & what a nice Mr. Rawlin he is <sup>now</sup> devoted to me & — ?

I am better than I have been for a couple of months but at present it seems advisable to go to Germany early for 2 courses, of battles with a Reichskurs between but have had rather a bad year so far.

Mary said she has lost "Delfos" It was very disappointing that this lady broke down just as the loan was printed but she is been above next year & Mr.

Seutter good wills very Encouraging.

Mr Hall (an old Student yours) maintains that we never has has a more promising student than she will be.

Therefore, dear, far you help us this winter. It really is worth while to send us good people for the students here have a long hard work before them.

September 12

Did you know we have 94 old students at Mei Conference here? And I wish them they must look out for opportunities to work after the pattern you set at Shelly. Send us as many new people as you can get hold of, there's a dear.

I often think of what you send me in your best rammer you bring & grateful friend.

My dear Henrie

How noble you are, dear!

What has been the clear people over town on Wednesday? Have they a holiday, - oh, to be sure, Whitewash course!

Concerning the Director (Mr. Coffin) it has perhaps the book question might be settled or some light thrown upon it. Poor Miss Baskerville It appears for everything to have pathetic! What has made it so?

her letter is.

Indeed, yes, I feel like tears whenever I think of it. I don't know anything more hopeful for the Country than the news of enthusiasm you have excited in the teachers. It shows what struggles are made of.

The dear old student has been making a coming of Age Presentation to the College - lots & lots of long reproductions from the Old Masters.

I forgot whether the Bishops were

My Dearest Henrie

Just a word of long writing on this very important day. If there few clear Mistakes, i.e., we have our six schools to begin with.

But you will have them or for no blam to discuss - (a) books (b), number of classes being written more (c), time. Any way you are quite experienced now & the districts feel need of this intellectual awakening is impressed upon me more & more.

In this our Bible course could be better.

Do you think there is a chance of it?

It is surely little worse therefore not in the least sectarian.

I hear of a brain specialist who says that in the last 40 years the ~~bad~~ brain of the educated class has lost 50% of its staying power. He may or may not
